President's message for May 2015.

Firstly, I would like to thank all the members of the dog world for their congratulations on the new position I have been elected into, being that of the President of Dogs Queensland.

Representing Dogs Queensland in this role is an absolute honour for me, a role which I take very seriously and will work tirelessly at. Congratulations also to our newly appointed Vice Presidents, Miss Ainslie Carius and Mrs Ulla Greenwood.

The currently elected Board contains a diversity of people, knowledge and skills, which will be of great benefit in continuing to take Dogs Queensland into the future. From our initial Directors training workshop only a few weeks ago, it was easy to see the passion and drive that your appointed Directors have for our organisation. It has also shown that as a Board, we will all work together and be united in the goals of Dogs Queensland. We will achieve even greater results than we have already accomplished in the last two years, since the initial incorporation of the CCC(Q) Limited.

There are a number of issues the Board will be addressing over the coming year and these include:

- Implementation and further development of the strategic plan;
- Further consultation and planning on the proposed undercover ring area and finalisation of the camping area at Durack;
- Improvements to the use of technology in metropolitan and regional areas of Queensland;
- Possible relocation of the Dogs Queensland office from Fortitude Valley to Durack;
- Continue to review the current structure of the office administration processes and ways to streamline procedures to assist members;

There is a belief amongst some members, that as Directors, we are able to discuss all matters openly which have been discussed at Board meetings. It is important to note, that as Directors, we are all bound by a confidentiality agreement which is predominantly for the protection of all members' rights. Any information relating to Board decisions is to be released by the office, not Directors.

I request that members respect this fact, as if necessary Directors will simply respond by stating they are unable to discuss any matters currently before the Board. We have adopted a 'month in review' newsletter and will be reviewing our communication processes, to ensure members are kept as up to date as possible on all issues regarding Dogs Queensland.

In closing, I would like to pass on my sincere thanks to the outgoing president, Mrs Norma Zimmerle. Norma has been a dedicated and passionate leader over the last two years. Thanks must also go to the outgoing Board. Their efforts have seen a wide variety of changes implemented, which in turn has boosted the public profile of Dogs Queensland immensely.

REGULATIONS PART 6 - UPDATE

The ANKC has advised that the following amendments had been omitted from Regulations Part 6. These omissions and additions have been corrected and their website has been updated accordingly.

The first two omissions relate to the approval of the 2014 National Canine Health and Wellbeing Committee meeting minutes.

6.6 Multiple Sire Litters - Intentional or Unintentional Multiple Sired Litters (10/07, 7.2)

Addition of New Clause 6.6.4 to read as follows – [Reference 2014 NCHWC Minutes Item 4.34]:

6.6.4 Where a registered breeder submits a duly signed litter application to a Member Body and subsequently, for whatever reason, makes a request to alter the pedigree of the progeny being registered i.e. change the sire or dam from that submitted on the original application, then that registered breeder shall be required to obtain DNA Parentage Test Results which clearly identifies the correct sire and dam of each puppy in the litter in question, prior to registration. Should the registered breeder not provide the required DNA Parentage Test results then the progeny is to be registered on the Limited Register and flagged 'not to be upgraded to the Main Register'. All associated costs are to be borne by the breeder of the litter. (Added 10/14, 6.6.1)

6.10 DNA Parentage by DNA Test Results (Added 10/14, 6.6.1)

Where a registered breeder submits a duly signed litter application to a Member Body and subsequently, for whatever reason, makes a request to alter the pedigree of the progeny being registered i.e. change the sire or dam from that submitted on the original application, then that registered breeder shall be required to obtain DNA Parentage Test Results which clearly identifies the correct sire and dam of each puppy in the litter in question, prior to registration. Should the registered breeder not provide the required DNA Parentage Test results then the progeny is to be registered on the Limited Register and flagged 'not to be upgraded to the Main Register'. All associated costs are to be borne by the breeder of the litter.

6.2.4 Special Conditions for Registration of Certain Breeds

(vii) Effective from 1st July 2015 British Bulldog: Black, Black and Tan, Dudley, or Bulldogs showing marked variation from those listed in the Breed Standard, (Including those registered in other Countries) can only be registered on the Limited Register, flagged 'not to be upgraded'. (Added 04/15 EAP)

8.20 Litter Registration Limitations

Guidelines for Developing Litter Registration Limitations (10/08) (10/14)

Amendment to Clause 8.20 (ii) with the addition of the highlighted text shown below. [Reference 2014 NCHWC Minutes Item 4.2]:

ii) Once agreed they should develop a proposed breed survey rationale, with questions that must be answered and a proposed date of commencement (after the Breed Survey (BS) is completed).

The following outline should be followed to develop the required breed survey:

Description of the condition;
Severity of the condition designated as a problem in the breed;

- Mode of inheritance if known;
- Percentage (with known DNA testable conditions) of affected carrier and normal in the current population. These can be obtained from the major testing facilities both locally and overseas;
- Desired breeding strategy for DNA testable diseases - with the desired strategy being to not produce any more affected progeny and at the same time keep as diverse a gene pool as possible.
- For non DNA testable diseases the breeding aim is to lower the incidence of severe inherited disease across the breed as a whole.

MEETING OF THE PRESIDENTS, SECRETARIES AND TREASURERS

Please note that the meeting of the Presidents, Secretaries and Treasurers will take place in the CCC(Q) Ltd Function Room at 247 King Ave, Durack on Monday 6th July 2015 at 7.30pm. 'Eddie'

'Spezia Prince of Fools'

Eddie was a much loved cocker spaniel. He was named Prince Edward and was treated like royalty. He was supposed to be my daughter's dog but I seemed to be his main carer. I fed him, trained him and groomed him for hours in preparation for the shows.

Emmy did love him and showed him at all the shows he entered. He is remembered for being a loveable boy that could be heard from the toilet block at Durack! We miss him dearly and hope nobody has to go through what we did.

Jennifer Robb bred Eddie, he came to us at eight weeks old and was delivered by Jen to an Agility Trial I was competing at. He was a cute ball of fluff. We had never had a cocker spaniel before and he was just so loving right from the start. Eddie was his happiest when he was dirty! He loved it when it rained, he would run around out in the rain and find the muddiest puddles to play in.

When we would arrive home in the afternoons the GSPs would greet us with a bark but Eddie always greeted us with some toy or object in his mouth, whatever was closest Eddie would bring us his present. Everything was going great, he was starting to look like a cocker spaniel and was maturing nicely, until the 26th of March, 2015. This is when our world fell apart.

I arrived home to find him and the GSP as usual, but he didn't bring me a toy. They looked fine but events unfolded quickly. They ate their dinner as normal and I went to feed the horses. It was at this point I found half an eastern brown snake dead.

I checked on the dogs, within half an hour Eddie was wobbly.

I picked him and the GSP up and raced to the vets. The GSP was tested and cleared of any bites from the snake. Eddie had multiple bites from the snake.

They administered the antivenin and treated him.

We then rushed him over to the vet specialist for intensive care, where he received another two vials of antivenin and oxygen therapy. His blood was clotting but it was suggested he had a blood clot on the brain and he was put into an induced coma.

This is where he stayed, we hoped time would give his body time to heal but when we tried to wake him up he did not respond. It was time to say farewell 'DoDo'.

I cannot thank his breeder Jennifer Robb and his grandma Terri Davies enough for their support. Terri left work to come to the specialists on the Friday to be with us to say goodbye to our baby. I cannot believe the support we had through social media, so many well wishes for him, I want to say a huge thank you to everyone for this, it helped us knowing we weren't alone.

He was so young, it hurt us so badly, we are slowly getting over this tragedy and only time will help. He is buried in our garden with his favourite blue elephant and blue teddy that has no stuffing.

We will never forget you little 'DoDo'.

The HUTT family.

Show Stoppers!

This picture was taken at the Goombungee show held on the 18th of April. The girls began their journey in the show ring this year and are thoroughly enjoying it. They have been given loads of advice from many people around the shows and also partake in Show Training nights at Coominya with the Lockyer Valley Kennel Club.

They have attended a lot of the ag shows and even the Toowoomba Royal this year where they had great runs and were awarded a ribbon each for their classes of breed. Both girls find it interesting learning more and more about the breed with each show as well as seeing some of the different breeds not as well known to them.

The girls find the Douges to be of a wonderful temperament and enjoy the loyal friendship of their dogs.

Champion Papillon

CH(N) Waiwilta Wysdom RA HTM.S FS.S.

Many people say that toys are not very good for anything else other than looking 'cute'. I would like you to meet Amber. 2014 was Amber's first year into serious competition and at the age of sixteen months began her campaign.

During that year Amber competed in five different disciplines. By the end of 2014 she had achieved her Championship (Neuter) title in conformation – Title 1. She had also gained titles in Dances With Dogs in both Freestyle and Heelwork to Music. These titles were gained in three straight competitions where she gained first place in her class every time - Titles 2 and 3.

Then followed Rally Obedience. Amber gained titles in Rally Obedience Novice, Rally Obedience Advanced – Titles 4 and 5 – and her first pass towards Rally Obedience Excellent. Amber also competed in Novice Obedience and gained her first pass towards that title.

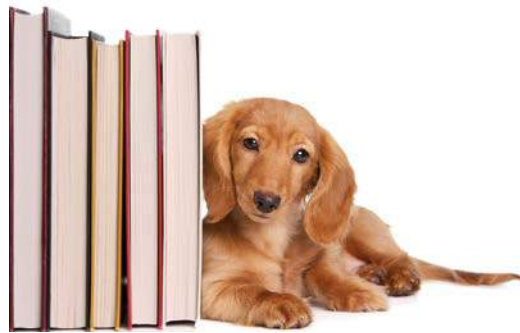

So for a 'cute' dog, in one year, Amber achieved five titles and passes towards two more. While she may be little she has a keen intelligence and an even bigger passion to 'work'. She has been a challenge to train but an even greater joy to work with. 2015 is already off to a great start with passes in the next level of both Freestyle and Heelwork to Music in DWD, again with first places. I look forward to what our partnership may bring in the future.

Not bad for a dog who is only good for looking 'cute'.

Coral Pethers

Enjoy our great May titles on the Affenpinscher, Griffon Bruxellois, Havanese and the Papillon.

All breeds featured in the May issue of the 'Dog World' Magazine are from the Toy Group. I am very sorry to say that at this stage, there are no books on the Affenpinscher in the Durack Library but I have certainly made a note of this and will try to rectify that as soon as I can.

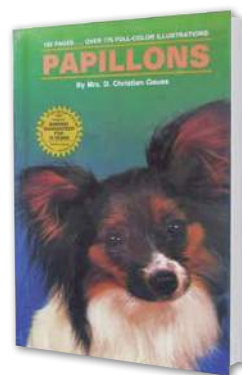

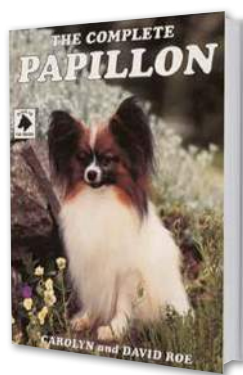

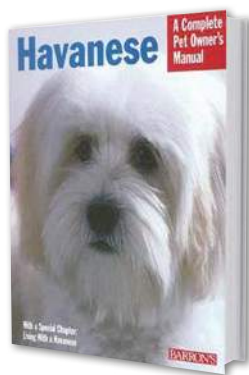

However, we do hold books on the other featured breeds, namely the Havanese, Griffon and Papillon.

Two books on the Havanese are recent additions to the Library and hopefully these will be of value to trainee Judges. The first of these is simply titled 'Havanese' (author Nikki Riggsbee) and has a Special chapter: Living with a Havanese. The book contains some history of the breed as well as hints on grooming, feeding etc. The second Havanese book by Diane Klumb is more in depth and it's the subject of this month's Book Review.

For those needing to obtain more information on the Griffon Bruxellois, you will find a book by Juliette Cunliffe full of lots of breeders information. The book in the Library is a 'Special Rare Breed Edition'. I found this book well put together with all the right info together with good colour photos.

A couple of books on the Papillon are available including a TFH publication by Mrs D. Christian Gauss and another titled 'The Complete Papillon' written by Carolyn and David Roe.

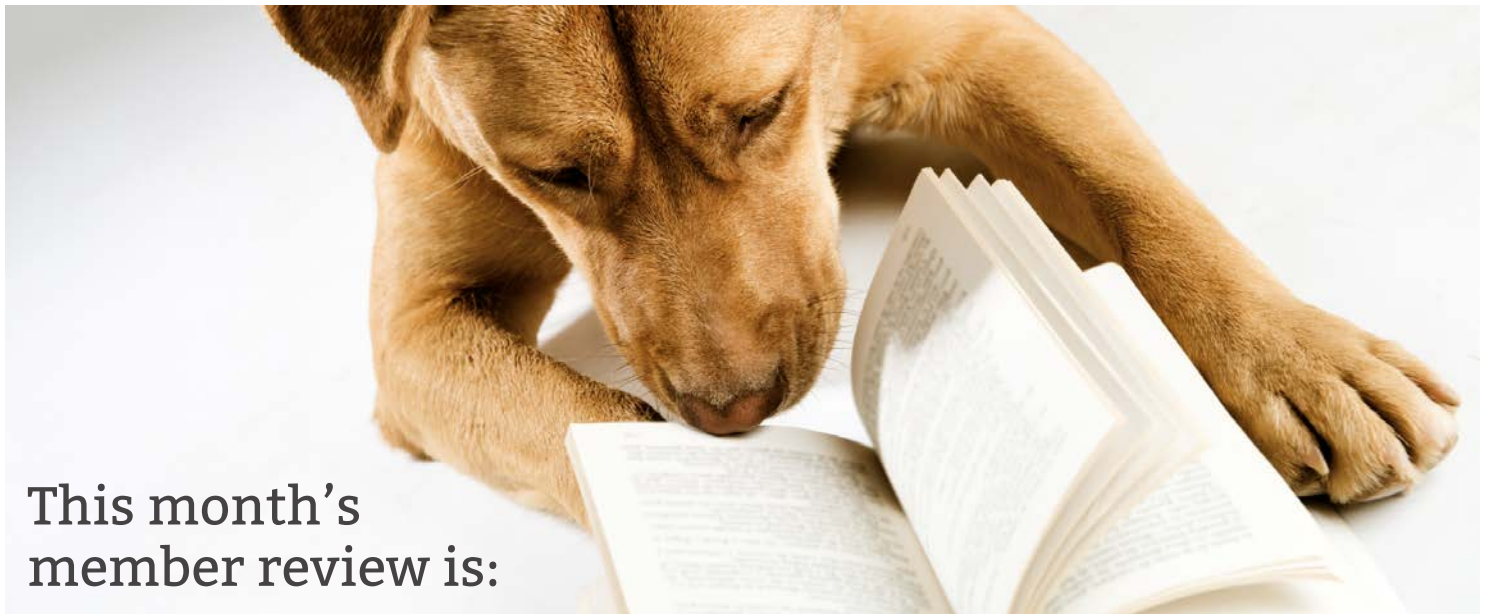

All of the above books are available for borrowing from the Durack Library.

Visiting the Library

Should you ever wish to access books from the Library at any time, please contact me on 0407 961 025 to make alternate arrangements. I am only too happy to assist in any way I can.

This month's member review is:

'The Havanese'

Written by Diane Klumb

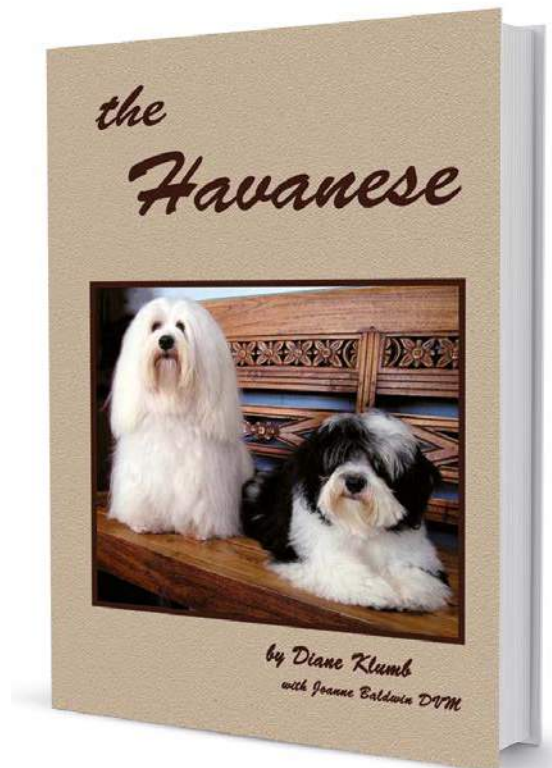

Reviewed by Helen Acworth
Library and Archives Committee

My Book Review selection this month has come from the breeds featured in the May 'Dog World' Magazine.

This book (published in 2005) is a recent addition to the Library. Written by Diane Klumb in association with Joanne Baldwin DVM, this is not a 'glossy' book full of coloured photos, but it is a book full of the most amazing insight into this beautiful breed. The authors, (Diane Klumb and her husband) have been breeding and showing purebred dogs for over thirty years and Diane has presented seminars on canine anatomy as well as writing a monthly column for 'Showsight' magazine.

In association with Diane, Joanne Baldwin is a practising veterinarian who has been involved with Havanese since 1992. She is the Chair of Health Committee of the Havanese Club of America and a founder of H.E.A.R.T. a non-profit organisation dedicated to support research health issues affecting Havanese. The information on the Havanese contained in this book is quite outstanding, and written in such a fashion that a novice like myself can easily read and absorb.

Please if you have an interest in this Breed, either as a breeder, exhibitor or trainee, this is the book for you.

Griffon History

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Diana Norman

There are three variations of this breed, the Griffon Bruxellois, the Petit Brabançon and the Griffon Belge. Their origins are somewhat of a mystery and there are two opposing theories that have been put forward by various authorities on the breed over the years.

The first theory is that the breed is some centuries old, this is based mainly on the belief that the little wire haired dog in the foreground of the Jan Van Eyck painting 'The Wedding of Arnolfini' dated 1434, is thought to be an early form of the breed. Certainly the little dog depicted does bear a slight resemblance to the breed but there are also claims that his dog is the ancestor of other toy breeds. It's possible of course that this dog is just a type from which many small breeds developed.

The second theory, is that the breed did not exist until 1880 in which year a Griffon type dog won a third prize in a variety class at the Great Dog Show in Brussels and was very much admired. Following this show Belgian breeders took great interest in these dogs and so started the popularity and the development of the breed.

It should be noted that another painting 'La Baigneuse au Griffon' of 1870 depicts a small black and tan dog, but as the term 'Griffon' merely means 'rough coated', it is no proof that this dog with its longish nose is an example of an early Griffon Bruxellois. There is probably a little truth in both theories.

The forerunner of the breed was almost certainly a small rough coated terrier type dog called a Smousje that had been around for some time in the streets of Brussels.

They were favoured by the coachmen of the city who kept them in the stables as ratters and they were called little Griffons d'Ecurie (wiry coated stable dogs).

Often the cabbies would let them ride in the coaches where they became a familiar sight and popular with ladies who loved their pert, cheeky expressions (see below).

It is generally thought that a few chance breedings produced a slightly different look, they began to be noticed and eventually they became fashionable and breeders started to introduce crosses of various kinds.

The Pug gave the breed the large head and eye, the colour black and smooth coats. It is said that the smooth coated Griffons were popular with the 'ladies of the night' in the Brabant region of Belgium and so came to be known as Petit Brabançon which roughly translates as a little dog from Brabant (see below).

The ruby King Charles Spaniel reinforced the flat face and added richness of colour to the red coat but also unfortunately introduced the domed skull, large ears and webbed feet (which is still to be seen today).

It is also claimed that Yorkshire Terriers were used and that the often seen silky top-knot is a product of these crossings.

In Belgium during 1880 the 'Club du Griffon Bruxellois' was formed and a standard drawn up. Registrations in the Livre des Origines Saint-Hubert (LOSH) and the first breed classes followed in 1883 and the breed went from strength to strength soon gaining admirers from other European countries and America. The popularity of the breed was increased by the interest of Queen Marie-Henriette of the Belgians, a dog enthusiast who visited the annual dog shows in Belgium religiously, often with her daughter, and became a breeder and enthusiast of Griffon Bruxellois giving them international fame and popularity (see below).

The First World War proved a difficult time for Belgian breeders but they recovered enough to continue breeding and exporting Griffons, but between then and the Second World War it was decided that any web-footed stock should not be bred from, and although the fault was eradicated there it caused a decline in the breed and by 1939 it was in a sorry state numerically. During the war years there was no breeding and by 1945 the Griffon had almost disappeared in its native country and it was only through the vigilance of dedicated breeders (in the UK particularly) that the breed survived at all.

Many dogs were exported to other countries and although the breed has never been numerous or popular there has been increasing interest in the last ten years because of a general increase in interest in toy dogs. A Griffon featured in the movie 'As Good as it Gets' and in Australia there have been a number of Griffons in TV advertisements. The Ewok is said to have been modelled on the Griffon as the creator of the Star Wars, George Lucas, had several of his own. Chewbacca's name is derived from the Russian word for dog.

In Australia the breed is becoming increasingly popular and there are now four breed clubs, the first, the GBC of Victoria was formed in 1975 and the other three, one in Queensland and two in NSW, were formed in the last five years.

Havanese History

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Pam Sleep

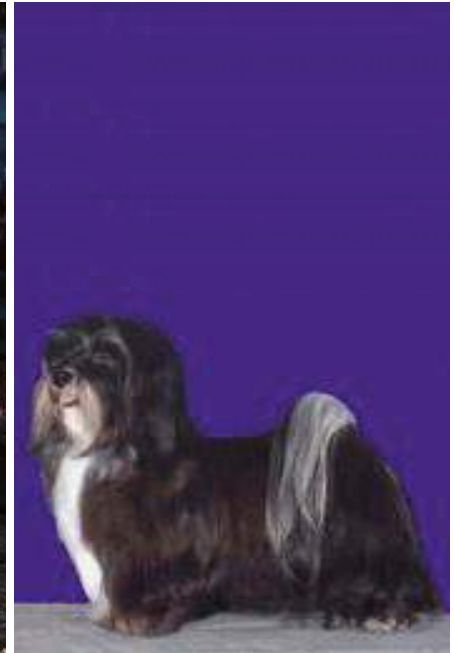

Although it is new to the accepted dog show world, the Havanese is quite an old breed in dog years Its history is fascinating and important in defining type, as it is unique in many respects. The Havanese is the National dog of Cuba and its only native breed.

The flag of Spain was the first flag raised over Cuba by Christopher Columbus in November of 1492. In the ten years following, colonisation begun on the island by Spain, who owned the country for the better part of the next four hundred years.

The first settlers came from two distinct classes, farmers primarily from the island of Tenerife, and the 'segundos' or second sons of the Spanish aristocracy. Ships' logs of the early sixteenth century reveal that dogs were brought along on these early colonists' voyages and logic tells us they were most likely the dog of Tenerife common ancestor to all the Bichon family.

Because of the draconian trade restrictions imposed on its colonies by Spain, Tenerife remained one of the only ports open to Cuba for trade, and it would appear these little dogs who soon found their way into the homes of the Spanish aristocracy, developed without much outside influence.

They did however, develop in response to the climate of this tropical island. The Havanese of today is still a remarkably heat-tolerant little dog, due in no small part to the unique coat Once called the Havana Silk Dog or the Spanish Silk Poodle, the coat is like raw silk floss, profuse, but extremely light and soft and insulating against the tropical rays in much the same way that yards of silk sari protect the women of India.

In its native country, the coat was never clipped for this reason and the hair never tied in a topknot, as the Cubans believe it protects the eyes from the harsh sun.

In spite of the trade restrictions, Colonial Cuba developed and prospered by the 18th century. It was the cultural centre of the New World with an elegance that surpassed anything the British had managed in its colonies. The aristocracy of Europe found the city of Havana to be a great vacation spot, with its operas, theatres and palaces.

On their return to Europe, they brought back the little dog on Havana, which found favour in the courts of Spain, France and England. In both Spain and in the court of Louis XVI they were shorn in the manner of poodles. And were much admired for their diminutive size. The English, on the other hand, appeared to leave them 'au naturel' and called them the white Cuban although they were as often found in parti-colors and shades of fawn.

By the mid-eighteenth century, they were downright trendy in Europe. Queen Victoria owned two and Charles Dickens had one, beloved of his seven children and named Tim. They were exhibited in the Early European dog shows and type was well established. In Cuba meanwhile, the times were changing. The aristocracy of the sugar barons was dying out and a new class was emerging, the bourgeoisie, and the little dog of Havana, adaptable as always became a family dog extraordinaire, playmate of children, watch dog and herder of the family poultry stock.

It is a position he has held there for the past one hundred and fifty years.

With the advent of the Cuban revolution, the class of Cubans who owned Havanese was the first to leave. A handful of them found their way to the USA and by the end of the 70s a gene pool was being rebuilt. All the Havanese in the world today, save those from the 'Iron Curtain' countries and those remaining in Cuba stem from those eleven little immigrants.

Remarkably, through all their travels, the Havanese type has remained virtually unchanged from that of the dogs painted in the eighteenth century. To preserve it now and for the future is the challenge.

The Affenpinscher

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Ven Grasso

Meaning 'Monkey Dog' in German, they indeed look like a monkey with its small head and monkey-like expression, their personality bringing a smile to your face. Their dark, sparkling eyes and prominent chins are framed by a beard, moustache and topknot of wiry, black hair.

The coat on the rest of the body is shorter and rough. Most Affenpinschers are undocked, the natural tail being carried in a curve up over the back. One of the more robust toy breeds, the Affenpinscher weighs on average 4 kg and reaches up to 11 inches in height.

A hunter of rodents and small mammals in 17th Century Europe, the Affenpinscher still makes a formidable ratter when given the opportunity. The popularity of the breed took off when it began to gain a name for itself in dog shows. Today the breed is rare in its country of origin, Germany, with its largest surviving numbers in North America.

Average size, weight and lifespan

First Use: Vermin hunting

Group: Toy Dog

Lifespan: 14 -16 years

Date of Origin: 1700s

Use Today: Companion

Colours: Predominantly black with coloured shading available in New Zealand. Overseas colours may include grey, red, silver and black and tan

Dog family

The Affenpinscher originates from the family of terriers. As family pets, terriers are a joy. They love rough and tumble, have unlimited energy, and provide constant entertainment. Most terriers make excellent city pets, and if yapping is controlled at an early stage, they make superb watchdogs and loyal defenders of their realms.

Temperament

This dog exhibits a mixture of exuberance and serenity. If gently treated, they get along with children and enjoy the company of other dogs if socialised with them early. They are full of curiosity and their own self importance, are determined and fearless, slow to make friends with strangers and make good watchdogs.

Grooming and exercise

A low maintenance breed requiring only a daily walk around the block, or somewhere to run around, the Affenpinscher make good house dogs. The breeds' stiff coat requires a quick brushing every week and a light trim every few months.

Compatibility with other pets:

Very good.

Care requirements:

Robust and generally sound with few medical problems, they are ideally suited to families with limited space. They do require regular grooming.

Ideal owners:

If you are seeking a loyal and charming house dog and prepared to accept the need for regular grooming, then the Havanese might well suit you.

Personality, characteristics and temperament:

A bit of a clown is one way to describe the Havanese. Its happy disposition and willingness to please make them the ideal companion animal. Despite its diminutive size, the Havanese is robust and full of energy, yet sensible and not hyperactive. A dog of intelligence and affection.

In conclusion:

Now you know a little about the Havanese. If you have decided this is the dog for you, or if you would like more information, please contact either the relevant registered breeders club or Dogs Queensland.

Either will be able to give you information about available puppies and also suggest dog shows where you can see the breed and speak to a breeder.

The Papillon

The Papillon is one of the oldest breeds of dog, with a recorded history in Europe going back nearly 700 years. The breed originally only had dropped ears and were called the 'epagneul nain' or 'dwarf spaniel'. Much of the breed's development is known because of its depiction in paintings.

This tiny breed is recognisable in 13th through 15th century Italian paintings in the Renaissance period. They were often painted on the laps of French and Spanish noblewomen. The dog was later known as the Continental Toy Spaniel. They were sometimes referred to as simply a Toy Spaniel.

Over time, an erect-eared type, fringed as to resemble the ears of a butterfly, developed. Papillon means 'butterfly' in French and white covers both ears and eyes from back to front.

Average size, weight and lifespan

Weight: 3 kg (approx)

Life Span: 15 years (approx)

Appearance:

Also called the Continental Toy Spaniel, the Papillon is a small fine-boned little dog. The small head is slightly rounded between the ears with a well defined stop. The muzzle is somewhat short, thin tapering to the nose. The dark, medium sized, round eyes have black rims. The large ears can either be erect or dropped with rounded tips. Papillon with drop ears are called Phalene Papillon (Moth). The hair on the ears is long, and fringed, giving it a butterfly-like look.

The long tail is set high carried over the body, and covered with long hair. The straight, long, fine, single coat has extra frill on the chest, ears, back of the legs and the tail. Coat colour is white with patches of any colour except for liver. A mask of a colour other than white covers both ears and eyes from back to front.

Care requirements:

Play will take care of a lot of their exercise needs, however, they enjoy a daily walk. They will also enjoy a good romp in a safe open area off lead, such as a large fenced in yard. Daily combing and brushing of the long, silky, single coat is important and fairly straightforward. These dogs are usually clean and odourless. Bathe or dry shampoo when necessary.

Personality, characteristics and temperament:

The Papillon is sometimes called the butterfly dog, because the ears look like butterfly wings. It is a friendly, intelligent dog that is tougher than it looks, and loves outdoor exercise. A playful, lively, amusing, animated and charming little dog. Affectionate, gentle, patient, and proud, they love to cuddle. Enjoys a good romp outdoors. They are steady, obedient and are not yappers.

In conclusion:

Now you know a little about the Papillon. If you have decided this is the dog for you, or if you would like more information, please contact either the relevant registered breeders club or Dogs Queensland.

Either will be able to give you information about available puppies and also suggest dog shows where you can see the breed and speak to a breeder.

Our Amazing Havanese

Carnwath Havanese

What is a Havanese, you ask?

I hear this question so often, as people smile down at my friend on the lead. The best answer I know comes from Dorothy Goodale, in her book 'Havanese... A Complete and Reliable Handbook', published by TFH.

Dorothy wrote:

"The Havanese is truly one of the most delightful of the small breeds. They are exceptionally talented and quick witted. Obedience training is achieved with very little effort. Fast to learn and anxious to please, they are a charming, open hearted breed with nothing sly or mean in their makeup.

They thrive on affection and human companionship and are at their very best when participating as members of the family. They love children and will play tirelessly with them at any game. Havanese are powerful swimmers and love playing in the water, diving in and out like tiny seals.

...After they arrived on the European continent, they were often used as entertainers in the traveling circuses because of their keen intelligence and their love of the attention that comes from their adorable little 'show off' nature. They are curious and busy constantly.

They are good watchdogs, making sure to alert you when a visitor arrives, and then taking their cue from you and welcoming the guest when all seems well with the master.

They are courageous and fearless in the face of danger. As they grow older, they become a bit stand offish with strangers, preferring to make friends with the visitor on their own terms and in their own time."

Well said Dorothy, that is a Havanese!

Dog World Update, May 2015

Hi all, Zone 2 continues to chug along and it's hard to believe that we are almost approaching the halfway mark of the year.

There are many activities and events occurring in the area at the moment for members to enjoy. All of our Clubs are working very hard to promote purebred dogs to the wider community and to provide events and activities for our members.

Bundaberg Easter Eggstravaganza

The Bundaberg Easter Eggstravaganza of four championship and two open shows has been a major event for the zone with international judging panels (for the champ shows) and seven rings running in an undercover arena.

At the time of writing, as there is a bit of lead time required for magazine submissions, the shows had not yet happened, but I just want to mention that the Bundaberg Canine Club has worked extraordinarily hard to present this event to members, and I have no doubt it has been very successful.

I will ask the Club to provide a feature on the event for a future magazine, so stay tuned!

Mackay Kennel Club Championship Shows – 14th and 15th March 2015

The Mackay Kennel Club with a new Committee ran a very successful show weekend in March. The Club worked very hard to promote their shows and put on a great weekend for all.

Congratulations to all the winners and the Committee who went over and above the call of duty to ensure everything was just so. I'd also mention that the canteen was superb – well done to the workers in there!

Just a note for any dog show people in the Mackay area, the Mackay club presents show training each Wednesday from 6pm at the Muller Park Grounds.

Please check out the Club's Facebook page for more details and contacts for this training.

Show Workers Training

Many hands make light work. At all our shows we need Show Managers, Stewards and Writers to ensure that the events run smoothly and results are recorded.

We now have regionally-based trainers available to enable more training options for regional members. Even if you just want a general grounding in the rules and how shows operate, this training is invaluable.

Check out the Dogs Queensland website to view future proposed dates and locations for this training in your area.

Breeders Seminars available to regional members!

A breeders seminar was recently conducted at Durack with Professor Claire Wade and Dr Bethany Wilson presenting.

During the lead up to these seminars, regional members voiced their concerns that they would also like an opportunity to participate in these sessions despite being unable to physically attend and suggested perhaps a recording to me made.

It is pleasing to note that Dogs Queensland did listen to this feedback and recorded the presentation with the objective of making it available to members who were unable to attend the event.

This is a very positive step forward in including regional members in the activities of the organisation and developing a more holistic approach to these type of programs.

From the media release on these seminars, it is clear that they were very successful and thanks needs to go to the Board for giving the recording the go ahead. As one of the members originally pushing for a recording to be made, I would also like to personally thank our Marketing Manager, Helen Mackie who I know worked very hard to bring this to fruition and put in many long days to make it all happen.

Hopefully this presents a platform for the future where we have more of these opportunities and the benefits are available to all members.

Rules in Action – What if I've entered in the wrong class?

The rule relating to this situation is Rule 143 which states:

"A dog may be entered only in a class for which it is eligible. If through the fault of the intending exhibitor or his agent, an exhibit is entered in the wrong age class, or if an exhibit becomes ineligible for the class in which it is entered, it shall be transferred to the Open Class, provided however that this Rule shall not apply to dogs eligible for entry only in Baby Puppy Classes which shall not be transferred to any other class prior to judging. Where an exhibit is entered in the correct age class but the wrong sex is indicated the said exhibit will be transferred across”.

Zone 2 Showcase

How do we apply these rules – here are some situations and the treatment under Rule 143.

1. I entered my dog in the Statebred Class but it is actually from interstate. Rule 143 would require this exhibit to be transferred to the Open Class.
2. I entered my five month old Baby Puppy in the Puppy Class. The baby puppy cannot be shown in the Puppy Class as it is ineligible to compete in this class and Rule 143 states that it cannot be transferred to any other class.
3. I accidentally put Bitch on my Dog's entry form for the Junior Class. The dog will be transferred out of the Junior Bitch class and to the Junior Dog class.

This treatment applies if the errors are discovered prior to the class being judged. If an ineligible exhibit is entered and exhibited in a class that it is not eligible then the exhibit is disqualified.

It is also very important to remember as exhibitors, Rule 139 which states:

“The exhibitor shall be responsible for the correctness of the particulars contained in the entry form”.

So it is our responsibility as exhibitors to ensure that our dogs are entered in the correct class and it is important for us to be diligent with our entry forms to ensure they are correctly completed and it also pays to check our entry in the catalogue and address any issues with the Show Manager prior to judging time. It may be that there has been a cataloguing error or it could be an exhibitor error, but in any case, checking for correctness and sorting out any issues prior to going in the ring is the best way to avoid any headaches.

Agricultural Shows

It's that time of the year when many communities are holding their agricultural shows and these can be a really fun day for members as well as a great promotional opportunity for purebred dogs.

With many small communities and agricultural show societies struggling with viability issues, we should never underestimate the influence and benefit that the dog dollar can have for these small towns in terms of sales for fuel, accommodation, food and other types of patronage of local businesses.

These smaller shows tend to have a very relaxed, fun atmosphere that I'm sure members would find very enjoyable and rewarding.

So please try to support some agricultural shows in your area this year – why not try going somewhere that you have never visited – these small groups will be grateful for it and you'll have a fun time doing it.

Submissions are welcome

Please feel free to send me your submissions of news, photos, stories or ideas for content in this column.

Contrary to what people might expect, I don't like having to source all the content and would much rather have lots of submissions to draft together for the column each month so please send me something through.

Submissions can be emailed to me at craig.pettett1@bigpond.com

All the best until next time, Craig.

A forensic view of Puppy Breeding in Australia

What is the Dog Population of Australia?

In 2010 research by BIS Shrapnel for the Australian Companion Animal Council Publication "The Contribution of the Pet Care Industry to the Australian Economy" estimated that the dog population was 3.6 million.

In 2013 a survey by Galaxy Research for the Animal Health Alliance Publication "Pet Ownership in Australia Summary" estimated that the dog population was 4.2 million.

So why was there a difference in estimated dog populations?

The Animal Health Alliance intimated that the dog numbers being higher than previously thought was due to the different methodology applied.

They stated that the robust methodology applied to surveying a statistically significant sample of Australians and resulting analysis provides accurate estimates of pet numbers, so given this justification for the difference we will assume for the purpose of this exercise that the dog population is 4.2 million.

Lets do the math!

Estimated Australian Dog Population 4.2 million.

A conservative estimate is that due to mortality 10% need to be replaced annually which indicates a demand for 420,000 puppies per year.

In 2014 ANKC Ltd Breeders registered 69,274 puppies, so to achieve the estimated number required, approximately 350,726 were bred by people outside the ANKC who have no accountability for health or welfare.

The History of the Affenpinscher

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Diana Norman

A woodcut by Elbrecht Durer (1471-1525) is the earliest known visual record of an Affenpinscher. The dog depicted is a small rough coated red terrier type not too dissimilar from the modern dog.

Originally just referred to as 'rat terriers' they were kept by German farmers in and around their granaries stables and barns to keep the rodent populations in check. Rats and mice frequently decimated hard won harvests and these efficient little terriers were much valued for their service.

However they proved to be the most adept of social climbers! With their mustachioed, mischievous monkey faces, coupled with high intelligence and boundless charm, they managed to leave the farmyard behind and took up residence in the main house protecting the larder. From there it was a relatively short jump to the mistress of the house's lap! The rest as they say is history, but make no mistake they are still equally at home pursuing vermin or settled in your most comfortable chair!

A French owned Affenpinscher painted by Dutch artist Charles Verlai some time before 1890, suggests that these little dogs were becoming loved and well known beyond German borders. An apparent darling of artists, none other than the great French Impressionist painter Pierre Auguste Renoir, placed an Affenpinscher in several of his major works.

The German Pinscher Klub of 1895 lists Affenpinscher type dogs in its first five volumes but from 1903-1907 they are recorded as a separate breed. They were also initially shown in two sizes, large and small.

Member Insight

The Queensland Dog World

Even today in closely line bred litters a dog of 13 to 16 inches will sometimes appear.

Originally these charming monkey terriers came in many colors and mixes of colors, ranging from yellow to red to gray, often combined with black, with shades of red being the most common.

German registrations between 1913 and 1923 show around 17% of dogs were black, however by 1922 -25 there was a jump to 50% black, and by 1935 registrations show 78% of all Affenpinschers were born black.

This remarkable colour change was brought about by people of wealth and influence, arbiters of taste and style in the Munich of the 20s and 30s. One influential breeder in particular, rapidly had an impact on what was still a relatively rare breed. And so it was that black became the preferred color, and in many countries is the only colour accepted by their Standards*.

After World War 2 Affenpinschers were left just hanging on by a thread. Postwar few things German found much favour and the breed is believed to have suffered further losses as a result. Numbers in Germany are still very low, but with recent successes at the highest level of International competition, these mustachioed imps are once again enjoying a worldwide surge in numbers and popularity.

 There are however major exceptions to the all-black attitude, including in the USA Canada and Norway, with a number of other countries allowing puppies other than black to be registered and exported. There is a groundswell of support in both the UK and in New Zealand to amend their Breed Standards to permit recognition and registration of other coloured dogs.*

How can I protect my dog from tick paralysis?

The paralysis tick, Ixodes holocyclus, causes tick paralysis. Tick paralysis is a serious and potentially fatal condition requiring urgent veterinary attention. It is important to be aware of paralysis ticks and to actively protect your dog.

What are paralysis ticks and how do they cause paralysis?

Paralysis ticks are dangerous parasites that can attach to the dog and proceed to suck blood from them. As they suck the blood, they secrete a toxin into the pet. This toxin affects the nervous system leading to a number of symptoms (see below) and potentially death.

Where are paralysis ticks found?

The paralysis tick is generally found on the eastern seaboard, from North Queensland down to Victoria. In the north, paralysis ticks may be found all year round, while in the more southern areas, the season generally begins in spring and finishes in late autumn.

Please note that tick season can be variable, starting earlier and ending later, for example, it may start early if the winter is mild.

Ticks can also be found inland in suitable habitats. Paralysis ticks may be found on animals that live in or near bush or scrub land. Native animals such as marsupials, birds and reptiles are the natural hosts, however ticks can also become attached to animals such as dogs and cats.

How do I protect my pet?

A holistic approach is necessary to protect your pet and reduce the risk of tick paralysis.

1. Avoid The Tick Habitat

During the tick season, don't take your dog walking in bush areas or scrub areas known to harbor ticks. Keep lawns and shrubs short and remove compost material from backyards.

2. Search Pets Every Day For Ticks

The most essential preventative measure is a thorough search of your dog's skin and coat at least once a day even if tick control products have been applied. This method gives you the best chance of finding a tick.

What do paralysis ticks look like?

The paralysis tick can look different depending on whether they are engorged with blood or not. When engorged with blood they have a blueish to light-grey/grey colour. Familiarise yourself with their appearance - check at your local vet clinic/vet clinic website, they will usually have posters and photos of paralysis ticks or do an online search for an image of Ixodes holocyclus.

Once on the animal, the tick finds a site of attachment where it becomes deeply and firmly embedded in the skin. When an adult tick feeds on blood, it increases in size dramatically (becomes engorged). When a tick attaches to the skin, the area becomes red and a raised thickening or 'crater' may appear. A crater is evidence of a prior tick attachment.

How do I search my pet?

Search pets thoroughly at least once a day. Use the fingertips to feel through the animal's coat. Ticks or tick craters can be felt as lumps on the skin surface. Most ticks are found forward of the front legs, especially on the face, neck and ears. However, remember to search the entire pet.

Start at your pet's nose and slowly examine the face, forehead and ears (outer and inner surface of the ear flap/pinna). Also search the eyes and lips and the skin/fur around the eyes and lips. Carefully examine all skin folds as well.

Remove any collars and search the neck area thoroughly including the skin folds of the neck. Continue the search, searching the shoulder area and then down the shoulders to the front legs. Remember to check between each toe and under the surface of the front feet.

Also check under the armpits.

Examine the chest area, all along the back, sides, belly, inguinal area, around the tail and anus and the thighs, back legs, in between the back leg toes and feet (including the under surface).

How do you remove a tick?

If a tick is found it should be removed immediately. Your veterinarian can show you the best way to remove a tick. When removing a tick, avoid disturbing the body of the tick (don't squeeze the body). Aim to remove the tick by its head at the point of insertion into the pet's skin. A useful aid is a tick remover - a fork like device that slides either side of the tick without touching the body of the tick and removes the tick easily.

If you find a tick, remove it immediately and take your dog to the vet as soon as possible. Remember to also continue to search for more ticks.

Some dogs can be infested with many ticks at one time.

3. Be Aware Of The Symptoms Of Tick Paralysis Which May Include:

- Loss of coordination in the hind legs (wobbliness in the back legs) or not being able to get up
- Weakness in the back legs
- A change in the sound of the bark or voice
- Retching, coughing (sometimes it is a moist cough), vomiting
- Excessive salivation/drooling
- Loss of appetite
- Progressive paralysis to include the forelegs
- Difficulty breathing or rapid breathing
- Grunting noises when breathing or any other abnormal behaviour or symptom

What should you do if your pet shows symptoms of tick toxicity or if you find a crater or a tick on your dog?

Take your pet to your veterinarian as soon as possible – tick paralysis is a serious and potentially fatal condition that requires veterinary attention.

Stay calm and keep your pet calm and at a comfortable temperature (not too hot or cold).

Search for ticks and remove them as soon as possible (see removal tips above).

Do not offer food or water or give anything orally, pets affected by tick paralysis cannot protect their airway when they swallow

(as a result of the toxin) and this may lead to aspiration of food/water into their airways which can cause aspiration pneumonia and serious breathing difficulties.

4. Tick Control Products

In addition to being aware of tick paralysis and the common symptoms, avoiding tick habitats and daily searching for ticks on your dog, talk to your vet about tick control products which are safe and suitable for dogs.

Never use any dog tick control products on cats as some dog products are highly toxic to cats and can kill cats.

5. Talk To Your Vet

If you have any questions, talk to your veterinarian.

THE GROUP STAY EXERCISES - OBEDIENCE

A Timely Reminder

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Coral Pethers
Competitor and Judge, Obedience

I am sure that all competitors involved in obedience trialling have, at some time, either heard of, seen, or been a part of an incident between dogs during the group stay exercises.

I have been a competitor in obedience for almost thirty years and a judge of obedience for fifteen years and I have seen many incidents. It seems to me that there are two main areas in which these exchanges occur between dogs during the stays.

Firstly, is during the line up outside the ring while waiting to enter for the group stays. It is the responsibility of the handlers during this time to ensure that not only is their dog not causing any problems for other dogs around it but also to keep their dog safe. Make sure there is a safe distance between each dog and make sure you stay aware of what your dog is doing. It is amazing how quickly a dog can dash to the end of the lead and the upset it can cause in a few seconds of inattention from the handler.

Your dog may not be an aggressive dog but a very friendly one. That does not give it the right to approach another dog during this line up. It is not fair on handlers if they have done the correct training to ensure their dog is doing the right thing and are being considerate of other handlers to have their dog affected by another dog's misbehaviour or handler's inattention.

With some dogs it can take only one bad incident and that dog is affected for life.

What may have been a great trialling dog is now no longer able to be trialled because of someone else's inconsideration.

Handlers are there because they enjoy working with their dogs and we all need to ensure that it is as good as an experience as possible for everyone.

Secondly, is when a dog breaks and goes to another dog during the actual stay exercise. If you have a dog that does this it is your responsibility to ensure that the training you do with your dog eliminates this type of behaviour before you enter a trial. Going into a trial with the hope that this time your dog will fluke it and stay is not only not fair on your dog but most unfair on the dogs around it.

Too many times over the years I have heard from handlers who said they gave obedience away because of incidents that occurred during the group stay exercises, which either frightened the handler on behalf of their dog or affected the dog. We want all handlers to enjoy the world of obedience trialling and to succeed and gain that qualifying certificate as a reward for all the hard work that has been put in by both handler and dog.

Be considerate of your fellow trainers to ensure all enjoy that special bond with their dog.

Knowing the Havanese

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Lindsey Boldwin
Carnwath Havanese

Small long coated dogs have been documented throughout the Mediterranean regions for centuries.

Many of these highly desirable ladies' pets found their way to the New World as trade, presents or bribes. They were especially prized by the upper class in Cuba, where they were bred with local dogs and small poodle types. They became the Cuban National dog, the Havana Silk Dog.

When Fidel Castro took power, many Cuban refugees made their way to the United States, where their special little dogs were welcomed, and developed into what we know as the Havanese. In many countries, though, we are known as the Bichon Havanais.

Havanese are brilliant little dogs, full of the joy of life, very loving and playful. In construction they are very different to the other Bichon breeds.

Someone (a Group 1 Judge!) once said "Nothing but a designer dog with a pedigree". Please let me know if ever you see a designer dog with our conformation!

We have seven points of call for judges:

1. Head is equal from nose to stop to occiput.
2. Forechest is prominent. (not in standard)
3. From withers to elbow equals from elbow to foot.
4. Point of shoulder to buttock is 4: height at withers is 3 (We are NOT long)
5. We arch over the loin (NOT a rising topline)
6. Our coat is long, soft wavy or flat. NOT trimmed, straightened, or overgroomed. There may or may not be undercoat.
7. We don't move like an ordinary dog, we Bop. Light footed and elastic.
8. Havanese are full of personality, and make wonderful family members.

We are expecting a big future with this breed, wish us luck!

She has also shown and in some instances bred Bichons, Smooth Fox Terriers, Italian Greyhounds, Cavaliers, Keeshonds and currently a Basset Fauve.

Mrs Susan Shrigley (Tas)

Mrs Shrigley took ownership of her first Weimaraner way back in the early 1970s. In the early 1980s she also became involved with Smooth Fox Terriers winning Best In Show at Sydney Royal in 1986. Mrs Shrigley has bred in excess of 100 Champion Weimaraners under the prefix Ghostwind and has judged in many countries throughout the world.

Ms Yanina Smith (Tas)

Mrs Brand has bred many BIS winners and Champions both here and overseas under the Branbern prefix. An All Breeds judge, Mrs Brand has judged extensively overseas.

Mr Raf Broomhall (TAS)

Mr Broomhall's interest in pure bred dogs began in 1990 with the purchase of a British Bulldog. Later additions were Mastiffs and Sealyham terriers. In more recent times he has enjoyed exhibiting some additional breeds including Scottish Terriers and Cavalier King Charles Spaniels. He has been judging since 2003 and is currently licensed to judge groups 1, 2, 5, 6 and 7. He is looking forward to this visit to Brisbane
