President's Message for December 2015

Well another year has nearly drawn to a close, and what a year it has been. There has been a great deal of work achieved throughout 2015, and even bigger things to come in 2016.

Puppy Farming Legislation

Dogs Queensland has been in constant contact with Queensland Government regarding a proposed exemption for its members from the proposed State puppy farming legislation. We are still waiting on the draft of the proposed exemption from government, and we are hopeful that this will come to fruition shortly, so that further discussions on behalf of our members can continue.

Camping at Durack

The Camping Working Party have done a tremendous amount of work at Durack over the last few weeks. The holes that have been popping up around the grounds have been filled and levelled with road base, and other provisions applicable to the camping sites have been fixed. I would like to thank the members of the working party, and all those volunteers who offered their time and effort in getting this project underway and finished in a very timely manner.

PR, Marketing and Magazine Committee Survey

We now have the first week of survey responses back and it is pleasing to note that so far we have had almost 400 responses in one week.

Preliminary analysis of these responses has commenced, however as the survey is open until the end of December, the final analysis cannot be completed.

A summary of the findings will be published when the survey is completed and the analysis conducted.

The results of this survey and the accompanying comments will provide significant input and assistance in ensuring that the Dog World magazine remains relevant to our readers.

Office closure for Christmas

Please be advised that the office will close down over the Christmas period. The office will shut from 12:00pm on the 23rd of December and will reopen on Monday the 4th of January.

As a final note, on behalf of the Board, I would like to take this opportunity to wish everyone a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New year!

Strategic Planning Update

Members will have by now received an email with a report regarding our ongoing Strategic Plan. I would like to thank Craig Pettett, Ulla Greenwood and the whole of the Strategic Planning Committee for progressing a large number of differing and complex issues within the Strategic Plan. The report is current to 30th September 2015 and the next step will be to provide a report at the end of the year. Any comments or questions that Members wish to make or ask can be forwarded to Craig via the Dogs Queensland Office.

Notice to advertisers

The Trade Practices Act came into force on 1st October 1974. Certain provisions of the act relating to consumer protection place a heavy burden upon advertisers, advertising agents and the publishers of advertisements. In view of the obvious impossibility of our ensuring that advertisements submitted for publication comply with the act, advertisers themselves need to ensure that the provisions of the act are strictly complied with. In cases of doubt, advertisers are advised to seek legal advice before submitting advertising material.

Feedback from our members is valuable to ensure this objective is met.

Members are encouraged to have their say and any member with a registered email address has been emailed the survey, they can also access an online version of the survey on the Dogs Queensland Website. Alternatively, members who prefer to complete and submit a hard copy survey are welcome to do so and can arrange for a copy to be mailed out to them by contacting the Dogs Queensland Office.

All members who submit a completed survey will go in the draw for ten prizes of twelve months free premium subscription to 'Show Manager'.

The Magazine survey will close on 31st December 2015.

Dog World Copy Deadline

Please note that the Copy deadline for the February 2016 Issue will be brought forward to 18th December 2015

August Specialty Day 2017

It has been recently agreed that the extra Specialty Day be continued and offered to Specialist Breed Clubs once again.

This would not be an extra Show Date and Clubs would only have the option to move existing Show(s).

It is proposed that for 2017, as in previous years, the Specialty Day be held on the Sunday of the 'Ekka' at Durack, in 2017 the date is Sunday 13th August. However to enable the Dogs Queensland to work with the RNA in scheduling their breed days, the day would only be available to four or five Clubs and would be done by application and will be rotated amongst all Clubs that wished to participate. Preference would however obviously be given to National Breed Shows.

It is hoped that this initiative would help in a number of ways, Club entries would increase, RNA entries would increase and 'space' pressure would be relieved on some of the existing Specialty Days.

Any Club wishing to apply for this show date should do so in writing prior to 15th January 2016.

Queensland Dog Sports Club's Presidents, Secretaries And Treasurers Meeting

The Meeting of the Queensland Dog Sports Club's Presidents, Secretaries and Treasurers will now take place on Sunday 7th February 2016 in the Function Room at 247 King Ave, Durack from 2:00pm.

Any and all Agenda Items are to be received in the Office no later than close of business on Tuesday 22nd December 2015 to gary@dogsqueensland.org.au

Summer Months – Training

By Joe Law

Summer months are a good time for maintenance training your retriever. Hard running retrievers can easily suffer from heat exhaustion so keep training sessions shorter and include water work in your program. Both Retrieving Ability Tests and Novice level Retrieving Trials focus on only sighted retrieves where the dog's performance is basically of its own making and the demand for control is limited to heeling and steadiness.

These summer months are a good time to teach and extend control work especially as too many sighted retrieves can result in the dog becoming excessively independent in attitude.

Make use of this time to drill your dog on basic obedience commands: Sit – Come – Stop – Go and extend your dog's training to include taking casts to Left- Right and Back. Next, build your dog's confidence in running to strategically placed dummies or dummy piles where the dog has not seen anything cast.

A handler can only be said to have control of the retrieve if the dog remains steady, only retrieving when sent in a direction determined by the handler: Furthermore, to have control, a handler must be able to stop the dog with a whistle or voice command and give added directions that are both understood and obeyed.

It is important to keep training drills simple and short and concentrate on each command until it is thoroughly learned and reliably carried out. Slowly build the type of control that will be necessary for your dog to be able to work in the field and retrieve more than one article in a required order including articles that your dog has not seen cast and has no knowledge of where it has fallen.

Dogs that have not been taught and thoroughly drilled to run in the direction they are sent will tend to skirt and avoid difficult terrain, cover and water. Start by teaching commands on flat ground with short cover and at short distances.

Only when the dog is performing consistently and reliably should any attempt be made to extend the drills to more difficult terrain, cover and water.

In summer months when the water is warmer is the best time to introduce inexperienced dogs to the discipline of controlled work in water. All dogs can have difficulty maintaining their correct body temperature in oppressive weather conditions.

Make use of water in the hot summer months and train smarter rather than harder.

Labrador Retrievers

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Roslyn McGuire

Labrador Retrievers, first found in Newfoundland, were bred to assist their owners in retrieving hunting game. Their webbed feet, and soft palette which is capable of carrying eggs without breaking them, making them ideal retrievers in marshy areas of Newfoundland and England.

The Labrador Retriever standard says a Labrador should be a short coupled dog, strongly built, broad in the skull, broad and deep in the chest and ribs, broad and strong over the loins and hindquarters and be very active.

They are a very good tempered and agile breed, with an excellent nose, soft mouth and keen love of water. An adaptable and devoted companion that is intelligent with a strong will to please. Labradors have a kindly nature with no trace of aggression or undue shyness.

There are three accepted colours for the Labrador: Black, Yellow or Chocolate, with yellow colourings ranging from a light cream to fox red. Colours should be whole, with a small white spot on the chest permissible. The eyes should be should be brown or hazel, and express intelligence and good temper.

Their movement is described as free, able to cover adequate ground, and is straight and true in front and rear – often described as their ability to reach and drive, a Labrador should be able to spend all day in the field with their owner at a steady pace.

Ch. Tenarda U Little Bewdy (Bewdy) owned by R. McGuire

The tail is distinctive, often referred to as an otter tail, which should be thick at the base, gradually tapering to a tip, medium in length, and covered in a short, thick, dense coat all round.

Males should stand between 22 to 22.5 inches tall (56 to 57 cm) and females 21.5 to 22 inches (55 to 56 cm). A relatively healthy breed, the Labrador can suffer from hip and elbow dysplasia, with hip and elbow X-Raying recommended before breeding.

Progressive Retinal Atrophy (PRA), is an inherited disorder, with responsible breeders able to prove with DNA testing if the dog is a carrier or clear of the gene. With a lifespan of ten to fifteen years, Labradors are a lifetime investment.

Whilst possibly being one of the most recognisable breeds in the world, the all round versatility of the Labrador is not as obvious for some, with their affectionate and willing to please natures making them immensely trainable, and able to perform a variety of roles from loyal and loving family pet, to guide and assistance dogs, police, military and customs roles, to outstanding dog sports competitors, especially in the areas of Obedience, Retrieving and Tracking.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE BULLMASTIFF BREED

Supplied by Assoc Prof Brian J. Miller, AM, FRACS
Paradigm Bullmastiffs, Brisbane

The Bullmastiff was registered first as a new breed in England in 1924, and then in the United States in 1933. Australia imported its first Bullmastiffs prior to the Second World War, although it was subsequent stock that laid the foundation for breeding in Australia.

The Bullmastiff breed, as its name suggests, is a combination of the Old English Mastiff and the British Bulldog.

It was first developed in England in the mid-1800s; the only guarding breed to originate in England. At the time of its creation, there were many large estates in England, the owners of which frowned upon the game in their estates being poached.

Gamekeepers were employed to oversee and protect the game in these estates, and they needed an able assistant; the poachers were a dangerous lot since punishment for poaching was hanging. Mastiffs were tried but found to be somewhat slow and lacking the drive necessary to knock down and hold a man.

Bulldogs (a type quite different to the one we see today) were tried, but the bulldog of that era was very ferocious and tended to maul the poacher too much.

So, crosses were made of the Bulldog and Mastiff until a robust ratio of 60% Mastiff, 40% Bulldog was achieved. This dog, eventually named the Bullmastiff, served the needs of the gamekeeper very well.

Feature Breed

The Queensland Dog World

The dog could track a poacher in the forest at night, work quietly and when close enough, spring to a hard charge, knocking the man down and holding him there until the gamekeeper arrived. This was no mean feat since the poachers used every trick and tool at their disposal to escape, knowing that they faced hanging.

The Bullmastiff had to be very brave and tenacious, and more than one suffered death at the hands of a desperate criminal. But the breed was exactly what the gamekeeper needed and these dogs did their job well. There is a story about one highly trained Bullmastiff named Thorneywood Terror who toured England with his owner putting on demonstrations for crowds.

The owner would muzzle the dog, give a volunteer 10 minutes head start into the forest, and take bets that his dog would stop the man. Thorneywood Terror never failed to catch, bring down and hold his man, and he made a lot of money for his owner.

Tenaciousness (stubbornness if you will) is still a trait of the Bullmastiff breed and makes them a challenge for the novice owner. You absolutely must not let them take an inch, for they will surely make it a mile!

However, they are also docile, easygoing, very loyal and devoted to their family, intelligent, and accepting of strangers welcomed by their owners.

Feature Breed

The Queensland Dog World

Lhotse and Binti relaxing in twincab

Bullmastiffs are large dogs, although not truly a giant breed. The American Kennel Club standards for the breed call for males to be between 25 and 27 inches at the withers and weigh 50 to 60 kgs. Females should be between 24 and 26 inches at the withers and weigh 45 to 55 kgs.

Only minor differences exist between the American standards and those of the Kennel Club of Great Britain.

Many rescued dogs however are small compared to the standard for the breed. Pedigree Bullmastiffs may be fawn, red or brindle; all having a black mask which covers the muzzle and extends up over the eyes. Brindle is black striping over a base colour of fawn or red.

Brindle was the desired colour of the original dogs used in England, being camouflaged and very hard to see in the forest at night.

As the large estates were broken up and the need for the protective services of Bullmastiffs dwindled they were bred for home and as family companions, and the brindle colour became less popular. Colour is however simply a personal preference, and all good Bullmastiffs are a joy to own. Their coat is short, smooth and easy to groom.

Upsides of the Bullmastiff breed are:- Mellow and easygoing; not requiring a great deal of exercise; intelligent; quiet; loyal; good guardians, yet not vicious; sensitive and willing to please.

They take their cue from their owner in a situation, accepting those people their owner accepts, and standing over those people the owner doesn't accept.

Downsides of the breed are:- Short-lived (eight to ten years); slobbery; stubborn (they work on 'bullmastiff-time'); expensive to acquire if buying from a good breeder; can be expensive to maintain.

They have a tendency to specific health problems such as hip dysplasia; elbow dysplasia; interdigital cysts; entropion and ectropion (eyelid problems); and early death from cancer, particularly lymphoma. Pedigree breeders in Australia are required to x-ray the hips and elbows of their breeding pairs to exclude joint dysplasia and reduce the chance of this occurring in the pups.

In placing a Paradigm Bullmastiff pup we look especially for committed family people who have had experience with large breed dogs, but who are not macho types; who have some dog knowledge and common sense, and are willing to learn; who preferably have a house with a fenced yard, but we will consider a responsible person in a townhouse or apartment.

Feature Breed

The Queensland Dog World

Interestingly, Bullmastiffs do not make bad apartment dogs if the owner is willing to walk them on a leash regularly every day. They do not have a high energy level and are generally quiet dogs.

Bullmastiffs get along well with other animals in their own household when they have been socialised to them early on, but as adults they can be aggressive towards dogs that are strange to them, especially in their own territory.

As with all dogs, thorough early socialisation is essential to having a well-adjusted, congenial pet.

Bullmastiffs need a strong-willed, dominant owner who is consistent in his/her expectations and who can bestow discipline and love equally.

The Havanese

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Vicki McAndrew

Havanese evolved from various bichon breeds brought from the West Mediterranean by traders and settlers to the West Indies, including Cuba, which was a Spanish colony from Columbus' landing in 1492 until its independence in 1902.

Although the breed has a long existential history, its 'pedigreed'/ Show life is relatively short. The Cuban revolution of the late fifties and early sixties almost resulted in its extinction in its native Havana, and the gene pool of present day Havanese is predominately the result of those Havanese fleeing the revolution with their beloved humans to the USA, with some input from Havanese who found their way to the communist parts of Europe prior to the 1980s.

Havanese were recognised by USA, Canadian and Australian canine authorities in the 1990s, but Crufts 2015 was the first British Show with Championship status, giving Havanese the possibility of attaining a British Championship certificate... so they really are the new kids on the block in that sense.

Havanese are intelligent, friendly, charming, and have a developed sense of humour, however they are completely without guile. On the rare occasion that they are 'naughty' they are the first to 'dob themselves in'.

Almost without exception they are great with kids (and humans of all ages for that matter) and are extensively used as therapy dogs in the USA and Canada. By all accounts, they also excel at Obedience and Agility.

Although long coated, their hair has developed to help (rather than hinder) them to cope with a tropical climate, which makes them a great choice for Queenslanders who want a long haired pet.

Part of their charm is that, while they should always be clean and free of mats, they do not require the 'tizz' of some other toy breeds.

One American site describes them as 'moppy', and our own Dogs Queensland standard says 'All grooming, the usage of scissors to even out the length of the coat, and all trimming is forbidden. Exception: tidying up the hair on the feet is permitted, the hair on the forehead may be slightly shortened so that it does not cover the eyes and the hair on the muzzle may be slightly tidied up, but is preferable to leave it in natural length'.

An added bonus is that they come in all colours of the dog rainbow, so breeding them is, to coin a phrase, 'like a box of chocolates'... you are never quite sure what you will get.

A degree of luck led us to the Havanese, but love and loyalty will keep us together for as long as we are capable of caring for them. We take ours with us everywhere (they are great travellers) and are often asked about them. We always welcome the opportunity acquaint others with this fantastic little breed.

I hope 'Pearl's First Christmas' will provide some insight into the joy and fun of owning a Havanese (or two).

Zone 2 Dog World Column, December 2015

A short column this month. Activities wind down in Zone 2 and everyone enjoys a well-earned break before we begin again in the New Year with another solid period of events.

What's On in Zone 2 in December?

Zero – time for a holiday!

There are no shows, dog sports or events in Zone 2 during December.

For those who are desperate to still do something in December, don't forget about the Lockyer Valley Kennel Club New Years Shows being held in Gatton. You might have to wait all month for it but I'm sure it will be worth the wait.

Show Workers Training

Zone 2 show workers training has been scheduled on the following dates:

- 5th and 6th December – Bundaberg (Show Manager, Steward and Writer training)
- 12th and 13th December – Rockhampton (Show Manager, Steward and Writer training)
- 19th and 20th December – Mackay (Show Manager, Steward and Writer training)

Please confirm your attendance by sending me an email at:
craig.pettett1@bigpond.com

Our show workers are an extremely valuable asset and are the reason that our shows are able to happen. The vast majority of our workers do so in a totally voluntary capacity.

Even if you already work at shows or have attended these courses in the past, it is still valuable to refresh your knowledge and catch up on any rule changes and how they may apply.

Callide Classic 2015

Zone 2 members gathered in Rockhampton on the 17th October to enjoy the Callide Classic Competition.

Run along similar lines to the Dog Of The Year and Puppy Of The Year competitions, the top winning dogs and puppies lined up to determine the winner for the year.

The club was pleased to welcome our three judges for the event, Mr John Burgess, Mr Graham Kerr and Mrs Norma Zimmerle.

The evening started off with the Junior Handler competition judged by Ms Tymeeka Waters, followed by the Veterans Sweepstakes judged by Mr Graham Kerr.

The line-up of Veterans looked lovely out in the ring and so did their dogs.

The Puppy and Dog competitions were full of quality examples of their breeds which presented some tough choices for our judging panel and a guarantee the winners would have really earned their awards.

Opposition 'Toyed' with at Hervey Bay

On a slightly bizarre day weather-wise on the 13th of September in Bundaberg at the Hervey Bay Kennel Club Show, the Toy Group dominated taking out both the major awards.

One could be forgiven for thinking the shows were being held in Melbourne with passing heavy showers and periods of sun which at one point had the Toy group being judged on two show trolleys pushed together into a makeshift ring until a particularly heavy shower passed.

Group and General Specials Judge, Mrs Sandra Mashford (VIC) was suitably impressed with what she saw in her Toy Group awarding BIS to the Pomeranian, Sup Ch Pomquest Fame N Fortune (Abraham) and RIS to the Tibetan Spaniel, Sup Ch Boldstar Ampo Namba (Herdman).

Faithful Companion The Maremma Sheepdog

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Jocelyn Jamieson

The Maremma is a very loyal and faithful companion to its owner. I say owner rather than master, as you will never become the master of a Maremma Sheepdog, only its equal. The Maremma accepts the leadership of humans but not their mastery. While being a good friend they will not willingly be your slave.

The 'Maremma Sheepdog' is believed to have evolved from the large white dogs of central Europe who were mentioned in Roman writings as far back as 116BC. They have been used in Italy for some 2000 years to protect the flocks and property of shepherds from predators such as wolves, bears, stray dogs and thieves.

The Maremma Sheepdog occupied two separate locations in Italy, the Abruzzi region of the Apennine Mountains in the summer and the plains of Maremma in the winter. They are known in Italy today as the Cane da pastore Maremmano-Abruzzese. The Maremma was introduced into Australia in approximately 1982 and used extensively as a Livestock Guardian Dog (LGD) in Australia, New Zealand, United States and Canada.

The Maremma is classed as a medium to large breed of imposing presence and majestic bearing, with their size accentuated when in full coat. For their size they are very flexible and able to turn on the spot.

The temperament of the Maremma is generally a reserved animal wary of strangers. Its attitude is determined by the abilities of the owner, the wisdom of the breeder in selecting complementary pedigrees when deciding to have a litter and the handling and care of the pups in the first few weeks of their life. They are constantly aware of their responsibility and will see a threat in any strange object, being or footfall.

They will not attack without provocation preferring to warn strangers away with a bark especially at night-time but trespassing is not taken lightly. Nonetheless he is affectionate to his owners. Old friends are accepted but the Maremma will usually remain on duty during their presence.

Strangers are not welcome and the dog should be under control when irregular callers are admitted. A 'FORMAL' introduction, best made when the caller has been admitted and is seated usually suffices to satisfy the dog that there is no danger but do remember that he makes his own judgements and may suspect danger where you see none.

Over the centuries the Maremma has developed a very strong guarding instinct and responsibility for taking decisions as they were frequently left by the shepherds in sole charge.

The independence required for solitary guarding makes the Maremma sometimes unwillingly to take orders.

This protective instinct has proved to be quite adaptable but training is required. Several trials and studies have been done in Australia as LGDs.

A Biosecurity Queensland study has confirmed that guardian dogs like the Maremma could provide an answer to wild dog problems in the Ipswich region.

Trials have been successfully held on Middle Island to protect the Penguins and an Australian movie has been made called 'Oddball' based on the true story of Swamp Marsh, a Victorian chook farmer whose ideas of using dogs to protect the penguins saved an entire colony.

Zoos Victoria is also involved in a program training Maremma's to protect the bandicoots.

Trial 1. For NewCrest Mining Company at their Gold Mining Operation at Telfer involving four dogs.

Trial 2. For Nifty Berla at their Copper Operations, some 100 kms south of Telfer, involving one dog ('Moses'). The heat factor was our biggest obstacle in The Great Sandy Desert, which was a constant 47 degrees throughout the trial.

The Maremma has done well in the show ring campaigned by John and Audrey Jamieson competing and winning at many Royals throughout Australia with their dogs.

Also Wendy Nash had much success with training several dogs 'Piltanga Panda' AD JD who was the first Maremma Sheepdog with AD JD titles and 'Piltanga Twilight Blaze' as a competitive Agility and Jumping Dog as well as being a Pet Assisted Therapy Dog at Mater Childrens Hospital, Brisbane.

As a show dog they are late developers before you will see the best of them. Needing to be lithe and flexible to spring to at a moment's notice means a juvenile's movement does look different. It is strongly recommended that you see Adult dogs in their home environment before you purchase so that you can see their true size, temperament and meet these wonderful dogs.

They are not for everyone as they have a mind of their own and are not blindly obedient.

This is an aspect that lovers of Maremma's find attractive, being a 'thinking' dog but they are not suitable for everyone or the inexperienced. They are courageous without being aggressive but need to be socialised.

It must be appreciated that the Maremma is a 'Protection Dog' and once bonded to a particular situation, be it livestock guard, family pet or show dog. it is very reluctant to transfer allegiance and so is difficult to rehome.

Owners should also be aware that the natural instinct of this breed is to protect and so will react to any perceived threat to its charges be they family members, their property or the stock that they are bonded to.

This breed is only suitable as a family pet/companion dog where the owners are prepared to give it regular exercise and not leave it for long periods without company. They must have some form of activity to occupy its time or it will quickly become bored and this will result in destructive behavior and excessive barking.

An accolade goes to John and Audrey Jamieson who have been true champions of the breed since they obtained their first Maremma to assist them in looking after their goats, travelling throughout Queensland and interstate to dog shows to compete against other Maremma's and promote the breed to the public. They also have given their time at many Farm fests, show training and other events.

I am a relative newbie to this breed as having only owned a Maremma myself for the past 6 years, but I am still being amazed at things they do as I see firsthand their instinctive nature coming out as various scenarios unfold.

They are a truly wonderful breed but must be treated with the respect they deserve for their true nature and instinct. With the correct breeding and socialisation they should not be an aggressive dog.

Every night when we come home we are greeted with the greatest smile from our beautiful girl 'Lady' (her eyes light up and teeth are shown in the widest grin). What more can you ask for in a welcome home.

A tip for the unwary. The traits you love them for can be your undoing. If you are running late and in a rush to leave the house, don't leave the dog to the last minute.

Running out the door this morning late I find my loving loyal very intelligent friend has picked up on my 'stressed mood' and decided to 'assess' the situation for herself refusing to come to the mad woman rushing about calling her. Makes sense! Motto - 'Calm and collected wins the day'.

Labradors

The best breed
in the world

a biased opinion

Dogs Queensland Exclusive

Supplied by Roslyn McGuire

Having grown up with Labradors I am somewhat biased in my affection for the breed. However, I know I am not alone with Labradors consistently being among the top most popular breeds in many countries around the world.

My first Labrador as a child was Dusty (Ch Waglett Stardust) who was already a member of the family before I came along. Dusty was very protective of her new human, always putting herself between any visitors to the house and I. We shared many an adventure, especially involving her large water dish if I believe everything my parents say.

After losing Dusty when I was 6, a new girl, Tinker (Waglett The Alarm Bell) came into our lives and my sister and I were introduced to the world of showing in Central Queensland – though I do remember attending a New Years Eve show at Durack as a child where the weather turned ridiculously cold for the time of year and had everyone reaching for blankets and heaters.

I was extremely fortunate 6 years ago to have my current girl Bewdy (Ch. Tenarda U Little Bewdy) come into my life and a more loving, sweet natured and cuddly girl I have yet to meet.

*Ch. Tenarda U Little Bewdy (Bewdy),

After achieving her Show Title, she has retired to a life of being a lady of luxury about the house, with regular visits from friends and family, including the 3 other Labradors in the immediate family, Lizzie (Ch. Tenarda You're Lizzie McGuire), Nellie (Ch. Nygambi Emerald Jewel (AI) and Chief (Ch. Nygambi Coal Train (AI)), owned by my parents and sister.

Bewdy's mother, Sunny (Ch. Tradedach Sunny Farm) lived out her final years with us also after the stairs became too much for her at my parents house. It was clear to see where my Bewds got her lovely nature from and her offspring share this beautiful quality.

I have been lucky to be able to be exposed over the last few years to a number of realms of the dog world through family and friends, branching out from the Show World to be a part of the Dog Sports world and being able to both appreciate and be in awe of the immense amount of training and hard work that goes into training these dogs to an elite level across the board and hope to one day also be able to compete at such a level.

Bewdy was totally spoilt recently with a trip to Zoo Studios for a photo session that beautifully captured her personality.

Feature Breed

The Queensland Dog World

The work they do is amazing and they donate a lot of their time and efforts to assisting animal charities as well.

While my non-doggy friends thought I was mad (but could appreciate the gorgeous pics) most of my dog world friends have asked where they can get the same.

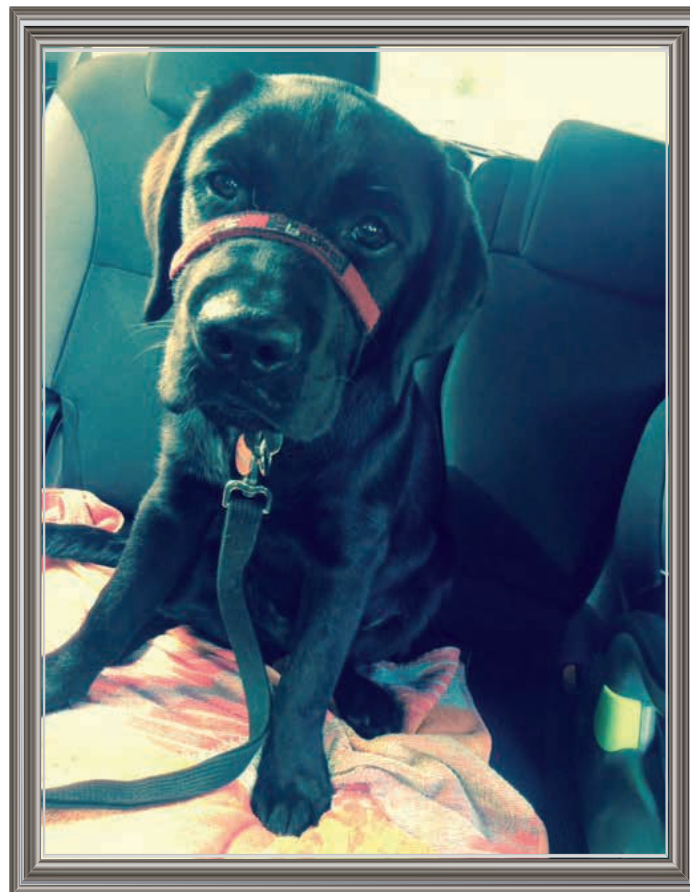

I know I will be like the large percentage of pet owners who buy a Christmas present for my dog this year (as every year) – and like to think as such she doesn't mind being dressed up as the pictures will show.

Wishing everyone a safe and happy Christmas, and a prosperous New Year in all your doggy endeavours.
